HEATING ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

LEVEL PAY

Level Pay

This payment option helps budget energy expenses by averaging an even monthly amount throughout the year, as opposed to paying larger bills in the heating season when more natural gas is required.

Winter Pay

Allows qualified customers whose households include children, elderly or infirm persons during the winter months (November through March) to pay a portion of utility bills when the full amount is unable to be paid. In the spring, payment arrangements are made to pay off the balance owed.

Project Share and Project Warmth

These programs are community-based for low-income persons or families who have exhausted all financial resources and other energy assistance benefits. Project Share is administered through the Salvation Army. Project Warmth is administered through Eastern Idaho Community Action Partnership (EICAP) and South Eastern Idaho Community Action Agency (SEICAA).

Keep Kids Warm

Available in the Treasure Valley Area to assist with heating costs for low-income families with children. Contact the nearest Community Action Agency for help.

LIHEAP

Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP)

This is a federally funded program that provides a once-per-program-year benefit to assist with heating costs. Apply with the nearest Community Action Agency.

THIRD PARTY NOTIFICATION

Third Party Notification

This program serves customers (especially the elderly or infirm, or those with language or reading problems) should the possibility of a discontinuation of service become necessary due to nonpayment, or service-related situations.

The third party (relative, friend, neighbor, clergyman, etc.) will be contacted in writing or by telephone, before discontinuation of residential service. The third party is under no obligation to pay the overdue bills.
